

Is your cyber security effective enough?
Find out before it's too late.

Is your data really protected against future cyber threats?

Your information is only as safe as your most negligent vendor, the most careless employee, unpatched software and exposed endpoint. Hackers can easily see these vulnerabilities. We can, too – and our QwickSentry Dashboard shows you the problems and the potential financial impact if they're successfully attacked.

Preempt breaches with QwickSentry Threat Intelligence.

QwickRate has teamed with G²S Global to offer QwickSentry Threat Intelligence, a solution designed to help community institutions stay ready for the cyber threats ahead. G²S Global experts have been detecting and thwarting even the most devious hackers for decades, helping protect entities ranging from government agencies to Fortune 500 companies. Now that deep expertise is finally available to your organization – in a proactive solution that provides a holistic view of threats and vulnerabilities throughout your network infrastructure and endpoints.

You can't be too proactive. Or too safe.

The cyber universe changes constantly. Safeguards that worked hours ago may be totally worthless now. That's why QwickSentry employs proactive tools – to help you avert attacks to come. With proprietary offerings like the ones below, QwickSentry serves as a force multiplier for your internal IT resources.

- Periodic threat assessments regularly detect and describe your cyber risks.
- Continuous external monitoring drives quick response to vulnerabilities in your network and environment.
- Deep and dark web monitoring uncovers credential thefts and illicit data sales.
- Secure vendor management program reveals the security impact of 3rd-party systems.
- Full remediation eradicates vulnerabilities and exposures to cyber attack.
